

No Fakin the Bacon

by umsadmin | Apr 29, 2016 | Blog |

As you can already tell, this week's blog will be about bacon. As many foodies and food lovers already know, bacon "insert item" is popular right now. With that in mind, we take a quick look at how this trend has transcended onto the fairground scene.

Bacon is not only delicious, right now the swine delight is trendy as well, and many concessionaires are capitalizing on it. Now as you walk from concessionaire to concessionaire you will see many different, and often times disturbing bacon creations. You will see simple items such as baked potatoes with bacon on them, hamburgers topped with bacon and bacon wrapped hot dogs.

For the more adventurous, you will find chocolate covered bacon, bacon covered churros, and fried pickles blanketed in bacon. Finally, for the diehard bacon lovers, you can sink your teeth into bacon covered corn dogs, chicken fried bacon, fried bacon cinnamon rolls, and the ultimate carnivore inspired bacon wrapped turkey leg.

These are just some of the bacon dishes you can find at the fairgrounds around the country. There is no "fakin the bacon" as it becoming a key player in the fair food scene, and it is not going anywhere.